

shown and described or portions thereof, it being recognized that the scope of the invention is defined and limited only by the claims that follow.